

Iron County Register

IRONTON, : : APRIL 25, 1901.

E. D. AKE, EDITOR.

VOLUME XXXIV. NUMBER 44.

If necessary, the Democrats of Missouri will repeat the Pertle Springs Convention of 1895, and do it with a whoop, too.

ALEX. LESUEUR is out of the Kansas City Times, and not a true Democrat in the State but is sorry for it. While he was in charge of the paper it was a credit to the West and a pillar of strength to the party.

The Enterprise has never especially admired the former courses taken by the Hon. David A. Ball regarding party matters and has not been his political supporter, but it has this much to say, just now, that the gentleman from Pike is getting on the right track when he maintains that rural democracy will not tolerate gold-bug supremacy in this state.—Charleston Enterprise.

The Political Review, a St. Louis venture published under the auspices of the Republican State Central Committee, is a new comer to the Register's sanctum. It is elegantly printed and ably edited, and as logical and fair as a Republican paper can well be. It is also very hopeful, but its proof-reader is a little careless. For instance, forecasting Democratic defection in the future as indicated by the past, it says: "In 1896 they sulked, and a Republican Legislature was elected"—intending, no doubt, "in 1894," when fifty thousand Democrats refused to go to the polls as a rebuke to the Clevelandesque betrayal of their confidence. If the Review is willing to wait for another such political cause and effect, Democrats are willing to risk their recurrence.

REFERRING to Gov. Dockery's veto of the compulsory school bill, the Cash-Book says:

In a number of the Eastern States liberal compulsory educational laws have been in operation for many years, and the results have been good. It seems that when the parent abandons the child's educational interests the state has as much right to come to the parent's assistance as it has when the parent refuses to provide food and clothing for it.

The cases are not analogous. It is true, and right as true, that the State provides for the maintenance of her helpless, indigent poor; but that maintenance does not, by reason of the necessity for providing for those who are unable to provide for themselves, extend to all classes alike. Against a public school system providing for the free schooling only of children unable to obtain an education without the aid of the State, no more objection could or would be raised than against furnishing them food and clothing in like circumstance. But the present public school system is unjust, unworthy a free, self-governing people, and leads continually to further injustice and wrong. The State has no moral right whatever to take from me to give to another who is able to care for himself, and the contention that my pocket-book must be made to contribute to the schooling of the children of my neighbors—in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, fully able and willing to take care of their own—is an insult to intelligence as well as public morality and justice. No, no, Bro. Cash-Book, the cases you cite are not analogous, and we confess to some surprise that you would make them so.

Mrs. John L. Simpson, of Charleston, recently composed the music for the well known poem, "Consider the Lilies," and a St. Louis firm will publish it. Some body ought to devote a little time to composing some new music that is not of the "ragtime" order on the sickly sentimental stuff that is paired out at the variety theaters.—Dunklin Democrat.

Amen, Bro. Caruthers. But as long as the local music teachers teach it, and the public demands it, music publishers will keep on publishing those things for which they find a ready sale. If the fond parent will fire every instructor that insists upon teaching his young ideas "My Hot-Tamale Gal," "Just Send His Shoes to Mother," "A Guilty Bird in a Cage," "I Love to see my Dear Old Mother Work," etc., etc., the few really good composers will have a chance to get a square meal occasionally, without being obliged to patronize free lunch counters.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

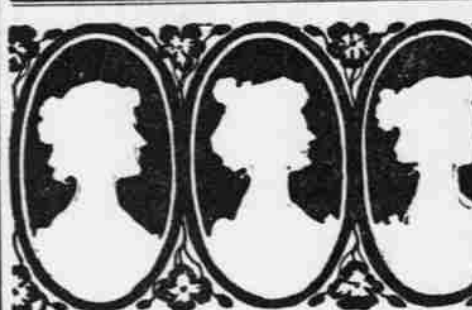

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by all druggists.

For Sale or Trade.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are filling graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Strayer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything. In fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Theodor's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the Ladies' Aid Society, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.
